His steps were feeble by reason of his sore hurts; but his heart quailed not, for he knew that ere now his Lord had trodden the same way. Thus passed he through the dark valley where were many tombs; and the dead leaves were deep beneath his feet. . . . At last, strength failing him, he sank upon his knees. Then the Shadow made pause; and turning round, laid upon him a hand, at whose touch his blood became as ice. . . . And the shadow spake, and its voice was as the voice of an angel: 'Thou hast been faithful unto death; the Lord will give thee a crown of Life.' Then was the veil of the Darkness rent asunder: and lo! the Shadow was clothed upon with light as with a garment of rejoicing; and he knew that the promise was fulfilled, and that, in very deed, Mortality was swallowed up in Life."—The Good Fight.

"When they saw the English heavy cavalry advancing the Russian squadrons closed in their flanks. But it was in vain. The Scots Greys and the Enniskilling Dragoons with loud hurrahs cut a way through the front ranks. In an instant they were engulfed in the dense masses of the enemy's horse, only to appear again after a short interval, weakened, it is true, and in disorder, but ready to throw themselves on the second line. Seeing them thus engaged, the first line, which had been already broken through was trying to reform, when the 1st Royals and the 4th and 5th Dragoon Guards charged it at full gallop, and breaking through it as though it had been cardboard, joined the Scots Greys and Enniskillings, and completed the rout of the Russians."—Léon Guérin.

Battle of Waterloo, June 18th, 1815.

Sir Frederick Ponsonby, colonel of the 13th Light Dragoons, severely hit in the head and both arms, was carried by his charger into the French ranks, where another wound laid him half dead on the ground. A French officer, whose name is unknown, raised him, and, placing a knapsack under his head, gave him a drink out of his own flask. The incident is related by Sir Frederick in a letter.

- 311 The Spanish frigate La Fama endeavouring to escape, having been previously engaged by the Medusa, whom she outsailed, is engaged by, and surrenders to, the Lively, Capt. Hammond.
- 391 His Majesty's ship Leviathan, Captain Baynton, in close action with the San Augustino, a Spanish seventy-four, which she boarded and captured off Trafalgar on the afternoon of October 21, 1805.
1807. 22 View of the British fleet, commanded by Lord Nelson, and of the combined fleets of France and Spain, as they appeared at the close of the Battle of Trafalgar, October 21, 1805. Taken from the north-east.
- 193 View of the British Squadron, under Rear-Admiral Sir H. Nelson, K.B., at the commencement of his attack on that of the French, as it lay moored in line of Battle in the bay of Aboukir the 1st of August, 1798.
- 236 Representation of the situation of the British fleet, under the command of Lord Nelson, and of the combined fleets of France and Spain at the close of the Battle of Trafalgar, October 21, 1805, taken from the south-east.
- 506 The attack on the Danish line of defence and batteries off Copenhagen, by the British Squadron under the command of Vice-Admiral Lord Nelson; in which battle the whole were taken or destroyed, April 2, 1801.
1807. 536 His Majesty's ship Temeraire, Sir E. Harvey, Bart., commander, boarded on each side by the Fogeux and Redoubtable, both of which ships she engaged and captured in the battle of Trafalgar, October 21, 1805.
1808. 102 Destruction of the Droits de l'Homme, French ship of 74 guns, and 1,600 men, by His Majesty's frigates Indefatigable, Capt. E. Pellew, and Amazon, Capt. Reynolds, with which ships she sustained a desperate running fight of ten hours, and with the Amazon was wrecked in Rodierne bay, on the morning of the 10th of January, 1797. The Indefatigable, with great difficulty, cleared the danger.
1809. 57 A fresh gale, with ships, etc.
1810. 118 Captain T. M. Martin, with the boats of His Majesty's ship Impetueux, rescuing the crew of the Venerable, of 74 guns (Capt. J. Hunter), lost in Torbay on the night of the 24th November, 1804, at daybreak not a vestige of the ship remained.
- 269 Southampton, with shipping, etc., taken from the shore towards Netley Abbey.
1811. 222 Representation of His Majesty's ship Implacable, engaging the Sewolod, Russian ship of 74 guns, which she compelled to surrender after a close action of 45 minutes, in which she had 80 men killed and upwards of 80 wounded: The Russian fleet bearing down to recover their ship, the Centaur, Rear Admiral Sir S. Hood, coming up, and making the signal of recall to the Implacable, the Swedish fleet being too far a-stern and to leeward to co-operate.
- 258 Perilous situation of the Honourable East India Com- pany's ship the Marquis of Rockingham, Captain Thomas Butler, on a voyage up the Red Sea, having struck on a sunken rock, in latitude 20 deg. 18 min. North, and 39 deg. 43 min. 30 sec. East.

1812. 69 View of the explosion vessel and fire ships conducted by Capt. Lord Cochrane to the attack of the French fleet moored in the road of the Isle d'Aix, on the night of the 11th April, 1809.
- 359 View of the appearance of the French fleet, about noon, on the 12th of April, 1809: The Imperieuse, Capt. Lord Cochrane engaging the Aquilon, Varsovie, and Calcutta, which were captured and burnt: The Ocean, etc., making sail for the River Charente.
- 367 View of the situation of the French fleet as they appeared the morning of the 12th April, 1809. The Ocean, a three-decked ship, with six others of the line a-ground upon the shoals, two still continuing at anchor, near the Isle d'Aix: the remainder got into the river Charente and part of them a-ground.
1815. 119 Captain Manby's method of saving ship-wrecked scamen from a vessel driven on a lee shore, by means of a line thrown over the ship with a shot from a mortar, as performed by Lieut. Woodger on the 20th of January, 1814, near Yarmouth. "In firing the second shot from the top of the cliff, I had the satisfaction to throw the line over the vessel, which was full 230 yards from the cliff: on signals being made to the men on board, they hauled a sufficient quantity of the line for the bite to return to the shore, to which a hawser was made fast. As soon as the people on the cliff had hauled the hawser on shore, and taught from the vessel, I made a grummit on the hawser, sufficiently large for a man to sit in, with the bite of the line fast to it; the people on board then hauled the grummit along the hawser to the vessel, and one man got into it at a time, and was hauled on shore hanging on the hawser; by which method the whole of the crew, consisting of five men and two boys, were saved."
1815. 270 Captain Manby's method of giving relief to a ship in distress at a distance from the land, by throwing a barbed shot with a rope attached to it, from a mortar, over a buoyed hawser connecting two anchors; thereby producing a power to keep a boat's head to the sea, when oars cannot act, from broken water, and forcing the boat from an open or flat beat over a high surf; to facilitate pilots, etc., going off in bad weather to give assistance.
- 498 Capture of L'Etoile, French frigate of 44 guns, 320 men, by His Majesty's ship Hebrus, of 42 guns, 260 men, after a chase of 120 miles, and a severe and close action of two hours and a quarter, in eight fathoms of water, close under the batteries of Cape La Hogue, in the night of March the 27th, 1814; in which were killed of the enemy 40 and upwards of 70 wounded; of the Hebrus 13 were killed, 35 wounded.
- 527 Portrait of His Majesty's Yacht Royal Sovereign, having on board His Majesty Louis 18th, escorted by a squadron of British and Russian ships of war, under the command of His Royal Highness the Duke of Clarence, the squadron saluting, on the afternoon of the 24th of April, 1814.

 1844. 551 The Moors beleaguered by the Spaniards in the city of Valencia. The principal figure is that of Abenaiif, the governor, described as a cruel and relentless man, but who held the city against the besiegers till the last extremity. The scene is supposed to occur at early morning; and food waxed dearer every day, till, dear or cheap, it was not to be had; and there was a great mortality for famine.
 1846. 575 The visitation and surrender of Syon Nunnery (at Isleworth, Middlesex) to the Commissioners appointed by Cromwell, in the reign of Henry VIII. Syon was of the order of St. Bridget, and was one of the first large monasteries that was suppressed, the convent having been accused of harbouring the King's enemies, of denying his supremacy, and having entangled itself with the affair of the Maid of Kent.
 The Commissioners were instructed to investigate in the strictest manner the hibited by special command of H.M. the Queen.

The frontispice is by Sir E. J. Poynter, P.R.A. Under a triumphal arch, on which are emblems of Peace, the Navy, and Commerce, Minerva, unarmed and crowned with olive, presents the three arts of Painting, Sculpture, and Architecture. The initial letter is by Mr. Briton Riviere, R.A. The British Lion, resting upon a rock, guards the Imperial Crown; grouped around him are the Colonies and India—young lions and a tiger; above the lion hover two doves—emblems of peace.

reaches out his hand to take the dish that held them, for he always greatly loved such tarts, and my lady, all bewildered, let him eat thereof, thinking that it would go hard with her if she said openly that they were poisoned. Then she, too, ate of them, for she thought, 'Now all things go wrong.' So these two died; whereby came my lord cardinal to his inherit-

 357 The Funeral Procession of W. Canyng to Radcliffe church, Bristol, in the reign of Edward the 4th, 1474.

The procession is headed by a cross bearer, succeeded by the several monastic fraternities to whom Canyng made bequests; next follow the Chantry priests, the Poor Scholars, or choristers, and the Acolites bearing the censer, incense, and holy water vessels, and the officiating Priest, attended by the Deacons, sprinkling holy water. Immediately preceding the bier are the Bishop and Abbots. The body of Canyng, surrounded by four gentlemen, bearing banners, is followed by his relatives, and his real or poetic friend Rowley, and the servants of his household. The Mayor and Corporation, succeeded by promiscuous followers, close the procession. In the foreground are portraits of some of the worthies of Bristol—the youth on the left hand with a lute, is intended for Chatterton; the succeeding faces to the right are Colston, Bird, and Southey. On the right is a portrait of Sebastian Cabot (with the dog), the discoverer of Newfoundland, etc. etc.

1839. 462 Italian Brigands visiting a wine grower during the vintage.
The locale of this picture is Sommino, a small town in the heart of that grand chain of mountains which divides the Papal and the Neapolitan States, a few miles from Terracina. It is famed as the birthplace of the two notorious brigand leaders, Antonio and Gennaro Gasberone, as well as most of their desperate band; its vicinity was for many years their headquarters and secure retreat. The two brigands in the picture are painted from Innocenzo Pennachio and Gregorio Monacelli, now at large by virtue of the Pope's pardon, but formerly members of the band. The two young women, the one spinning, the other sticking dried figs, are portraits of the daughters of Gennaro Gasberone. In the distance are Piperno, Rocca, and Gorghia, etc.

temples still left of Thebes, the ancient capital of Upper Egypt. Profane history is silent in respect to it, and records only its capture by Cambyses, King of Persia, son of Cyrus the Great, in the year 526 B.C., and of its final destruction by Ptolemy Lathyrus, after a protracted siege of three years, 81 B.C., etc., etc."

1845. 405 Jerusalem from the south east —the Mount of Olives. The view is taken from the lower part of what by tradition is still called "The Hill of Offence," from Solomon having here set up the worship of Ashtaroth, showing the site of the Temple on Mount Moriah. The whole of this hill is still encompassed by a wall of vast thickness, and now ascertained to be the identical wall or platform on which the outer colonnade or cloister enclosing the Court of the Gentiles was raised from the remains of a bridge still existing in the west wall, and which connected the area of the Temple with Mount Zion, crossing the valley to the left called Tyropeon, dividing Zion from Acra, Moriah and Ophiel.

In the centre, on a raised platform of marble, covered by a dome, and surmounted by the crescent, stands the Mosque of Omar, occupying the site of the Temple of Solomon; and nearer to the spectator, with a smaller dome, the Mosque El Aksa, originally a Christian church, etc. To the left of the Mosque El Aksa, in the distance, with a square tower, and covered by a dome, is the Church of the Holy Sepulchre, and believed to cover the site of Calvary. The high part of the city, immediately behind the Mosque of Omar is Bezetha. The low ground to the right of the city wall is the Valley of Jehoshaphat; here the Jews are still buried, and in it are contained the Garden of Gethsemane, Tomb of the Virgin, Pillar of Absalom, Tombs of Jehoshaphat, St. James, and Zecharias, the Fountain and Pool of Siloam, etc., etc.

The hill in the extreme distance is that of Scopus, upon which the Roman army, under the command of Titus, encamped.

1849. 290 The destruction of Jerusalem by the Romans, under the command of Titus, A.D. 71. "During the reign of Nero, the Jews having revolted, the city was invested by Titus, and having desperately sus- tained the most remarkable siege in history, from the 14th of April to the 2nd of September, in the year A.D. 71 it was taken, and together with the Temple, plundered and burnt. The Jews, after having courageously defended the third and second walls fell back upon the fortress Antonia, which commanded the Temple. Torn into factions amongst themselves, they fought madly against each other, whilst the Romans burned and laid waste the outer and lower cities of Bezetha and Aera; but Titus, after great labour, having brought the war-engines to bear upon the fortress, the Jews were ultimately driven back upon the Temple itself. The principal tower having fallen, the northern portico of the Temple was left defenceless. Titus, commanding in person, was anxious to save it, but on the seventh day after the Romans had taken possession of Antonia, the outer portico having caught fire, the Temple itself, together with the magnificent porticoes by which it was surrounded, were totally destroyed, etc."—Josephus.

 536 Bethlehem the city of David, looking towards the Dead Sea and the land of Moab. Immediately over the pine trees, in the centre, stands the convent and church of the Holy Nativity, erected over the site of the birth of Our Lord, by the Empress Helena, mother of Constantine, including the chapels of the Greek, Latin, and Armenian Christians. To the right, and overlooking the Dead Sea, is a high conical hill, surmounted by a ruined fortress, called by the natives the "Frank's" hill, probably from its having been in the possession of the Crusaders, but by some fixed upon as the site of the ancient Beth-horon, mentioned by the prophet as a place for a beacon, whilst others believe it to be the Massada of Josephus, which was situated on a high rock, fortified by Jonathan the Asmodean, and rendered impregnable by Herod.

The two great pillars supporting the octagon, and betwixt which the procession ascends the steps leading to the choir, are encircled by pulpits of bronze and silver, begun under the directions of San Carlo Borromeo, and completed by the Cardinal Frederick. These are covered with basso-relievos by Andrea Pellizone, and rest on colossal caryatides, representing the symbols of the four evangelists and the four doctors of the church, St. Gregory, St. Jerome, St. Ambrose and St. Augustine, modelled by Brambella and cast by Busca.
 88 The Piazza Navona at Rome.
 418 Interior of the church of St. Gommaire at Lierre in Brabant.
 The rood-loft screen, considered one of the finest specimens of the Flamboyant style in Belgium, was greatly injured and defaced in 1580 by the fanatic soldiers, led by Marnix of St. Aldegoude, from Antwerp, called the Iconoclasts or image-breakers, who burnt a portion of the church, destroying many of the most valuable statues and pictures. Fortunately one of the most interesting of the latter escaped, and is still carefully preserved, representing the marriage ceremony of Philip (called the Handsome) of Burgundy, and Johanna, only child of Ferdinand and Isabella, of Castile and Aragon, celebrated in this church on the 20th of October, 1496.
1858. 14 The high altar of the church of San Giovanni e Paolo at Venice.
 159 The Basilica of San Lorenzo. Founded by the Empress Galla Placidia in the fifth century, was partly rebuilt by Pelagius II in 578.
 On the tribune or absis, stands the high altar with its baldacchino, and immediately over the confessional, where are said to be interred the bodies of the martyrs, St. Lawrence and St. Stephen. The galleries on each side overlooking the tribune are supported by twelve elegantly fluted columns of Pavonazetto marble, which, together with their capitals and entablatures, are evidently taken from more ancient buildings, and were up to 1833 buried half way up their shafts, which descend far below the present pavement; the earth being removed, they were shown in their full proportions to the pedestals on which they rest. The church, in its present form, was completed by Pope Alexander VII in 1657.

(The above are evidently by one artist, but whether they are by Archibald Robertson, the elder brother of Andrew, is doubtful. Miss Emily Robertson in her letters, etc., of Andrew Robertson (printed in 1897), states that Archibald came to London in 1786, and went to America in 1791.
 He was born in 1765, so the 1775 exhibit must be by a different Arch. Robertson.)
